Violets and dark berry

2013 Grenache "Drop Dead Legs" Paso Robles

Alcohol: 15%

pH: 3.81 ??

Total Acid: 0.67 ??

Cases Produced: 315

This is a special blend of two vineyards: Seven Oxen Vineyard and Kiler Canyon Vineyard. Seven Oxen is old school head pruned, Kiler Canyon is cutting edge high density planting pushing the extremes of grape growing. This wine will seduce you... probably take you down... blissfully.

On the nose:

Bright violet and lavender with black stone fruit and spice.

fruit with hints of cherry cola and cassis with hints of pepper and provencal herb.

On the palate:

Rich plum, cherry and cassis with hints of grapefruit. On the mid palate the fruit is long and is complicated with hints of black pepper and provencal herb trailing into toasted oak laced with vanilla cream.

On the Palate:

Black and red stone fruit turning bright with a hint of provincial herb, black cherry and laced with pepper and spice. Lively acid keeps the fruit bright and right up front with firm structure and mouthfeel dancing across the mid-palate. The flavors linger into a slow silky oak finish... it makes me think of lingerie.

On the Nose: Dense Pomegranate, Strawberry and Rhubarb with hints of mocha and creamy Oak.

On the Palate: Bright red fruit with vibrant acidity, it starts to define itself as cranberry, Pomegranate, and strawberry layers fold into a massive wave of tannin that hits the top of your mouth and spreads as it grows. Mouth filling tannins continue with more strawberry that morphs into a mocha chocolate finish that lingers, and lingers, and lingers... still lingering and lingering, it seems to go on forever....

2013 Mourvedre

"El Pelon"

Paso Robles

Alcohol: 14.8%

pH: 3.90 ??

Total Acid: 0.53 ??

Cases Produced: 240

On the nose: Red briar fruit, violets, and pepper laced with cream so dense it has a texture of lanolin and then, in a moment... black cherry cola, pepper, bay leaf, clove, and provincial herb that diminish... slowly, into nothingness and everything at once... it is all about perspective.

On the palate: Lush boysenberry fruit juxtaposed with cranberry turning to Black cherry in a dark and tragic dance lost in its adolescence, mouth-watering red fruit continues... draped in an intriguing tannic structure laced with hints of bay leaf that linger to a leathery finish wrapped in velvet oak and dark chocolate.... truly a sensation.

Advice: Don't do this alone...
